Grades 5 – 8

“Conscripted Slaves: Hungarian Jewish Forced Laborers on the Eastern Front During the Second World War”
Robert Rozett

Grades 7-12

The laborers' personal accounts speak powerfully to every Jewish family that lived under Hungarian rule during the Holocaust years, because it is their own personal story. But it is not one to be kept in the family alone, since it is profoundly relevant to all people.

“Desperate Times! Julius Goldfarb’s Diary, 1939-1944”
Phillip Goldfarb, translator, with Maryann McLoughlin
Contact gail.rosenthal@stockton.edu
Polish Jew who survived labor camps, ghettos, and hiding

Grades 9 – 12

“Eichmann Before Jerusalem; The Unexamined Life of a Mass Murderer”
Bettina Stangneth

Grades 7-12

A total and groundbreaking reassessment of the life of Adolf Eichmann—a superb work of scholarship that reveals his activities and notoriety among a global network of National Socialists following the collapse of the Third Reich and that permanently challenges Hannah Arendt’s notion of the “banality of evil.”

“Ernest Triumphant”
Ernest Paul
The story of an individual’s resistance against the terror of the Holocaust

A Partisan’s Revenge

“I Truly Lament: Working Through the Holocaust”
Mathias B. Freese
Varied collection of stories: inmates in death camps; survivors of these camps; disenchanted Golems complaining about their designated rounds; Holocaust deniers and their ravings; collectors of Hitler curiosa; an imagined interview with Eva Braun during her last days in the Berlin bunker; a Nazi camp doctor subtly denying his complicity; and the love story of a Hungarian cantor, among others.
“I Will Never Be Fourteen Years Old”
Francois Lecomte
A French child’s promise as she experiences the Holocaust

“Janka Festinger’s Moments of Happiness”
David Speace
Letter by survivor – the Holocaust as she lived it in her own words.

“Journey of Ashes”
Anna Ray-Jones & Roman Ferber
Traverses a fine line between humor and tragedy. It presents a fascinating interpretation of a boy’s recollections of growing up in Krakow surrounded by the Holocaust. In this uplifting story we are introduced to Roman Ferber, a child whose humor, courage and sturdy sense of self outshines the sun, even in the darkest days of the Nazi era in Poland.

“Journey to the White Rose in Germany”
Ruth Bernadette Melon
A tragic story of passive resistance – an encounter with the past that inspires the present and future.

“Leaves Swept by a Cruel Wind”
Ilona Elefant Schwarcz
Written in the DP camps immediately after liberation, the historic significance of Ilona Elefánt Schwarcz’s testimony, so close to the actual experience, cannot be overestimated. Completed within four years and three months of liberation, these journals still have the full heat of intense rage and abject sadness of the here and now.

“Letters from the End of a Dark Tunnel”

The Future of Holocaust Memory
Joshua M. Greene and Shiva Kumar
A feature-length documentary that explores the lives and memories of children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Holocaust survivors. The film investigates the changes occurring within and the many dimensions of Holocaust memory through the generations. “Memory After Belsen” weaves together a visual tapestry of people whose family histories position them as stewards of Holocaust remembrance. |
| Grades 9 – 12 |
| “Miriam’s Way”
Cissy Lacks
In September of 1941 German armies marched through eastern Poland into Russia, and a Polish Jew, Miriam Kornitsky, only thirteen years old, was sent by her parents into the dark forests of White Russia to hide from the invaders. This book is about a young girl's will to survive, and her ability to live with loneliness and the constant threat of death. |

“What Do You Know About the Holocaust? Race and Genocide”
Louis Tornillo
The book approaches the Holocaust from a unique point of view. It is organized around an interactive quiz for the reader on basic Holocaust related knowledge followed by essays which explore key issues and events, using rich primary source detail to answer the respective quiz question. It is designed to provoke critical thinking and gives a concentrated essence of the Holocaust in a highly compressed space. It is informative with a definite point of view on the singularity of the Holocaust. Each essay can be read as an individual lesson or integrated with others to reinforce a point.
